Statement on Trump's...Whatever That Was

Another "press conference." Same old Donald Trump.

We aren't sure what we just watched and neither is America.

From his member-only golf club, Donald Trump tried to read some paper for more than 40 minutes, while giving a stream of not-much-consciousness. It was quite boring. Networks cut from his speech (except Fox, he has Dominion over them).

Then, he took some questions. It did not get better.

Most important for middle class families, Donald Trump has no plan to lower costs, he has a plan to raise costs.

The following is a statement from Harris-Walz 2024 Spokesperson James Singer:

"At his country club, Donald Trump, huffed and puffed his opposition to lowering food costs for middle and working class Americans and prescription drug costs for seniors before pivoting back to his usual lies and delusions.

“No surprise, Trump doesn’t want to defend his agenda that would raise costs for families by $3,900 a year, cut Social Security, and eliminate the Affordable Care Act – all so he can give his rich donors tax breaks.

“The American people cannot trust a word Donald Trump says, but they can trust Vice President Kamala Harris, who has spent her life taking on fraudsters, cheaters, and criminals like Donald Trump to make our country safer and lower costs for the middle class.”

A reminder of what the “big facts and very substantial truths” actually are:

- Donald Trump left office with the worst jobs record in modern history
- Trump would hike taxes on the middle class by \$3,900
- Economists warn that Trump’s plans would raise prices and set off an “inflation bomb”

Don’t say we didn’t tell you so:

Venue

Not a battleground state

Preview

Not so fresh off NABJ, Florida, and Twitter glitches, Donald Trump intends to deliver another self-obsessed rant full of his own personal grievances to distract from his toxic Project 2025 agenda, unpopular running mate, and increasing detachment from the reality of the voters who will decide this election.

These remarks will not be artificial intelligence, but they certainly will lack intelligence.

Banning abortion, raising costs on families, confusing basic facts, cutting Social Security and Medicare, blocking border security, and being publicly unstable, unfit, and unwell will not help his struggling campaign for president.

Tune in for the same old thing.
